Get in Shape for Go.

Chicago, March 1 .- "I will fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight champion- at Santa Anita today was marked by ship of the world if I am able to get into one of the worst accidents in the history condition to do myself justice," said of the track. It occurred in the second FOURSCORE YEARS TOO MUCH James J. Jeffries, who stopped off on his race, when Angerona stumbled near the way to New York today.

"The story from Omaha that I said I would fight Johnson as soon as I finished my vaudeville engagement is not true." continued Jeffries. "I never have said definitely I would fight Johnson, and I am not ready to do so now. My future depends on my ability to get into condition and I am not certain yet whether I will be able to do myself justice if I return to the ring. I must nave more time to analyze my condition before I will make any definite plans."

Jeffries appeared to be in excellent condition, but somewhat heavy. He was accompanied by Mrs. Jeffries and Sam Berger, his sparring partner.

paddock gate and caused Tom Lynch and Chief Kee, with their riders to fall in a heap. Angerona was uninjured, but McCartiby, her rider, suffered a broken leg. B. Woods, rider of Tom Lynch, sustained a severe scalp wound and is not expected to live. Schlesinger, rider of Chief Kee, escaped with slight bruises. Of the two horses, Tom Lynch sustained a broken leg and had to be destroyed. While Chief Kee suffered a wrenched back.

As the track will be closed tomorrow on account of "Lucky" Baldwin's funeral, the official entries were canceled.

John Carroll, well rider, by Shilling, won the principal race, the fourth, from Arasee, the favorite, by two lengths. Cloyne was third.

Los Angeles, March 1.-Elias J. Baldwin, the famous plunger and turfman, known throughout the country and Europe as "Lucky" Baldwin, died at his residence in Arcadia on the celebrated Baldwin ranch, fifteen miles from Los Angeles, at 7 o'clock this morning. He was $1 years old. The end came after a lingering illness of several weeks. He passed quietly away surrounded by his family and friends after having been unimascious most of the night. condition. Battled for Life.

The wonderful vitality of the aged nillionaire and his grim determination to get on his feet again carried him through several recurrences of the heart trouble, but he grew weaker and less able to resist the next one.

At the time Mr. Baldwin was first seriously stricken, Mrs. Baldwin, whom he married twenty-three years age when she was but sixteen years of age was in Sacramento and did not learn of her husband's serious condition until two days later. She then hastened to his bedside and has been his almost constant attendant from that time until his time between his ranch at Santa Anita and the north. Sometimes he has been at Lake Tahoe, other times in Alaska and again in San Francisco He preferred Santa Anita, however, and one of the greatest ambitions of his life was to see the race track there become the greatest in the country.

Sportsman to the Last.

No man identified with horse breeding and the racing of thoroughbrees was more widely known throughout the country than E. J. Baldwin. Even the weight of his eighty-one years did not suffice to diminish his interest on matters pertaining to the turr, and while orses bred by his trainers were winning races on distant tracks, the owner of the vast estate near Los Angeles lived the luxurious life of an old Spandon, with an army of employes and retainers, with one of the few great race tracks of the country almost at his door and with towns and settlements transforming, the appearance of the great domain that has become one of the show places of southern California.

"Lucky" Baldwin was born on a farm six miles outside of Hamilton, Ill., and on his father's estate he acquired the taste for fast horses that made his a familiar figure at many a track. During his boyhood the family moved into Indiana, and thence to Racine, Wis., where he engaged in the merchandise business. Attracted by the tales of fortunes made and lost in the gold fields of California, Baldwin sold out and came to San Francisco in 1853.

Success From Beginning. Almost from the first his ventures were attended with the success that won him the sobriquet by which he is best known in the west. He first acquired a hotel, which, after two weeks of management, he sold for $5,000. He found frequent opportunity to induige fortune, and it was at Saratoga, while mors of impending contests of the will watching the races, that he decided to have been rife during Baldwin's illness, acquire a stable of his own. Many of his earlier purchases were made in the gible form. It is reported that the will chased in this manner. By the time his ble contest from that direction.

Alfred T. Ringling tells me that nine-tenths of the leading performers before tenths of the leading performers before tenths of the leading performers before the public can be included in thirty families. As sharply defined as any old English lineage, they can be traced backward in some instances more than two centuries—each generation accepting without question the heritage of spangles and tights. The circus daring and the circus muscles and the circus restlessness have descended from father to children and thence to children again. The thrill of the sawdust ring has got into the blood. From the parent trunk branches have crossed and crisscrossed until, as in the case of the Clarkonians and the Demotis and the Siegrists Florenzes, great circus lines have been built up and guarded with the zealous care of a royal genealogy. Alfred T. Ringling tells me that nine

WHEN HE WAS HAPPIEST.

Seventy Cents Gave Jay Gould More Pleasure Than $70,000,000.

(New York World.) "I knew Jay Gould when he was in sore need of 70 cents, and I knew him when he had $70,000,000, and I am confident that Mr. Gould was happier when he hadn't even a dollar," said John Burroughs, the celebrated naturalist and scientist in an interview on the "making of entist, in an interview on the "making of money." Mr. Burrougs is spending a few days here as the guest of Mrs. Sarre, a wealthy woman, studying poultry at Cor-mess are synonymous.

"The great problem of today is the making of money. It is unquestionably the occupation that engages the minds of the vast majority of people. But from what I have seen of life and those leading it, when one has obtained a competency money is superfluous, just like an excess of fat that is not needed to round out the figure to give it a handsome appearance. Piling up wealth then becomes like piling on flesh, and greatly hinders the employment of the best things of this
